Chan & Kotnik speak at Graduation

By Jennifer Caceres '10

Two future Ivy Leaguers, Valedictorian Nicholas Chan and Salutatorian Stephanie Kotnik, who were the two speakers at the 52nd Commencement Exercises of Archbishop Molloy High School on Saturday May 30th at Colden Auditorium at Queens College.

Chan and Kotnik were chosen because their hard work and perseverance throughout their four years at Molloy earned them the first and second highest academic averages, respectively, in the Class of 2009.

Chan had found out from Assistant Principal Mr. Ed Jennings that he became only the second boy since Molloy graduated its first coed class in 2004 to be selected valedictorian when he returned to school after Easter.

"I was hoping to achieve it, but, nonetheless, it was a pleasant surprise," Chan said.

Chan doesn't believe the fact that he is only the second boy in six years to speak at a Molloy graduation ceremony is any reflection on the academic ability of male Stanners compared to girls but rather just depends on the makeup of each individual class.

Nevertheless, the fact that he is the first male valedictorian since 2004 made him a bit nervous.

"I have to live up to the expectations," he said, "so it makes it extra special for me."

Chan's valedictory speech discussed the importance of never giving up and its theme was that Stanners must always have hope for future, no matter what comes their way.

Chan said he was pretty satisfied with his four years at Molloy and pleased to have made close friendships.

"Although it's tough and a little sad, we must go on," said Chan, who will enroll in Columbia University's School of Engineering and Applied Science in the fall to study applied mathematics.

He chose mathematics as a major because of its versatility.

"It has many branches and I could go into many different fields with this major," said Chan, who is one of six members of the Class of 2009 who will attend Ivy League schools.

Another future Ivy Leaguer is Kotnik, the Salutatorian for the Class of 2009, who will enroll at the University of Pennsylvania in the fall.

She said she was very pleased to have earned the right to be one of the speakers at graduation.

"I was very surprised to be chosen as salutatorian," she said. "It's a great honor, and I'm very proud to have achieved it, but I wasn't anticipating it at all."

Kotnik was delighted when she was told by Mr. Jennings she was the class salutatorian after Easter break.

"It's great to see how all my hard work over the past four years led up to this," she said.

In her salutatorian speech, Kotnik focused on her past four years at Molloy and talked about the memories she and her fellow Stanners made during those years.

Kotnik has had previous experience speaking at graduation ceremonies.

"I was actually valedictorian at my grammar school," she said, "so I've had the experience of speaking in front of people before. However, it's a lot different speaking in front of the 40 kids in my grade school class and the 400 kids in Molloy's class of '09."

Kotnik said she's sad to be leaving Molloy but at the same time very excited to be starting college, where she plans to major in communications and journalism with the hope of becoming a successful writer in the future.

English teacher Ms. Mary Pat Gannon taught both Chan and Kotnik in AP Literature.

"Nick was a dedicated student whose work was always done on time," she said. "Stephanie has innate writing ability. She's intuitive and pays attention to the nuances of words and their meanings."

Both Chan and Kotnik showed over their four years at Molloy the academic dedication it takes to be the best in a graduating class full of good students.

Eight other seniors will attend universities ranked among the nation's top 25: Nicole Bonilla (Cornell); Ivan Collado (Michigan); Manuel Cordero (Columbia); Brittany Dombrowski (Cornell); Christopher Kabelac (Georgetown); Kristen Lasak (Notre Dame); David Olusoga (Cornell); and Dorota Sawicki (UCLA).

In addition, five more seniors will enroll in Top 25 liberal arts colleges: Cailin Chang (Hamilton); Patrick Collins (U.S. Naval Academy); Angela Dumlao (Vassar); Connor Hubbard (Davidson); and Emily Tansey (Mount Holyoke).

Teachers wish the Class of '09 well

Several Molloy teachers wanted to say goodbye to the Class of 2009.

Italian teacher Signora Palmina Dionisi said, "A tutti i miei studenti d'italiano: E' stato un piacere conoscervi e di insegnarvi la lingua della bell'Italia.

"Tanti auguri per un avvenire prospero. In bocca al lupo! Con affetto sempre," she said.

Spanish teacher and softball coach Mr. Lou Santos said, "I want to wish the 2009 graduating class good luck on their achievements."

"I would personally like to say to our Varsity Softball players: Thank you for all the wonderful memories that you have given me. Your dedication and hard work has paid off in so many ways.

Please remember that the door to Room 205 is always open to you," Mr. Santos said.

Earth Science teacher Mr. Mark Verdi said, "Spring is always such a bitter sweet time of the year for me. Having watched the seniors grow into such fine young men and women, I find myself feeling melancholy that you are leaving.

"On the other had I am happy that you are ready for the next step in life. All the best of luck and remember to come back and visit," Mr. Verdi said.

History teacher Mr. John Mecca said, "Try to keep in mind what I told you last year as juniors: You are part of America's hope for a brighter future. I trust in you."

Boyd, Smith are top senior athletes

Janelle Boyd and Russell Smith were chosen as the Class of 2009's Outstanding Senior Athletes at Molloy's annual Sports Awards Night on May 14 in the Jack Curran Gym.

Boyd was a four-year varsity softball player, during which time her teams have won two CHSAA Brooklyn-Queens Sectional Championships and two CHSAA City Championships.

Boyd, who was the No. 1 pitcher, team captain and team MVP in her senior season, had a regular season league won-loss record of 5-0 with a 0.00 Earned Run Average.

She was named to the CHSAA All-League teams as both a junior and senior.

"I was really shocked when I won," Boyd said. "Everybody was saying, 'You're going to win it; you're going to win it,' but I didn't believe it until they announced my name."

Boyd's shutout streak ended in the second round of the CHSAA playoffs but she still led her team to another title as Molloy defeated St. John's Prep 11-0 in five innings in the quarterfinals, Fontbonne Hall 14-3 in the semifinals, and St. Francis Prep 13-0 and 1-0 in the double elimination finals.

Smith, meanwhile, was a three-year member of the boys varsity basketball team and team captain and MVP as a senior.

He was a CHSAA All-League selection and named to the All-Queens and All-City teams as both a junior and senior.

During his career, he was named to four all-tournament teams and was the Most Valuable Player in two of those tournaments.

As a senior, Smith was named to both the All-State and All-Tri State teams.

He was the MVP of the Regional Jordan Classic featuring the best players in the New York tri-state area.

Smith's 1,617 career points put him third on Molloy's all-time scoring list behind Kenny Anderson, who scored 2,621 points in a four-year varsity career from 1985 to 1989) and Willie Hall, who scored 1,717 points from 1955 to 1958.

Smith scored 823 points as a senior to break Molloy's single season scoring record previously set by Anderson in the 1988-89 season.

Several Molloy teams won championships under the leadership of the Class of 2009.

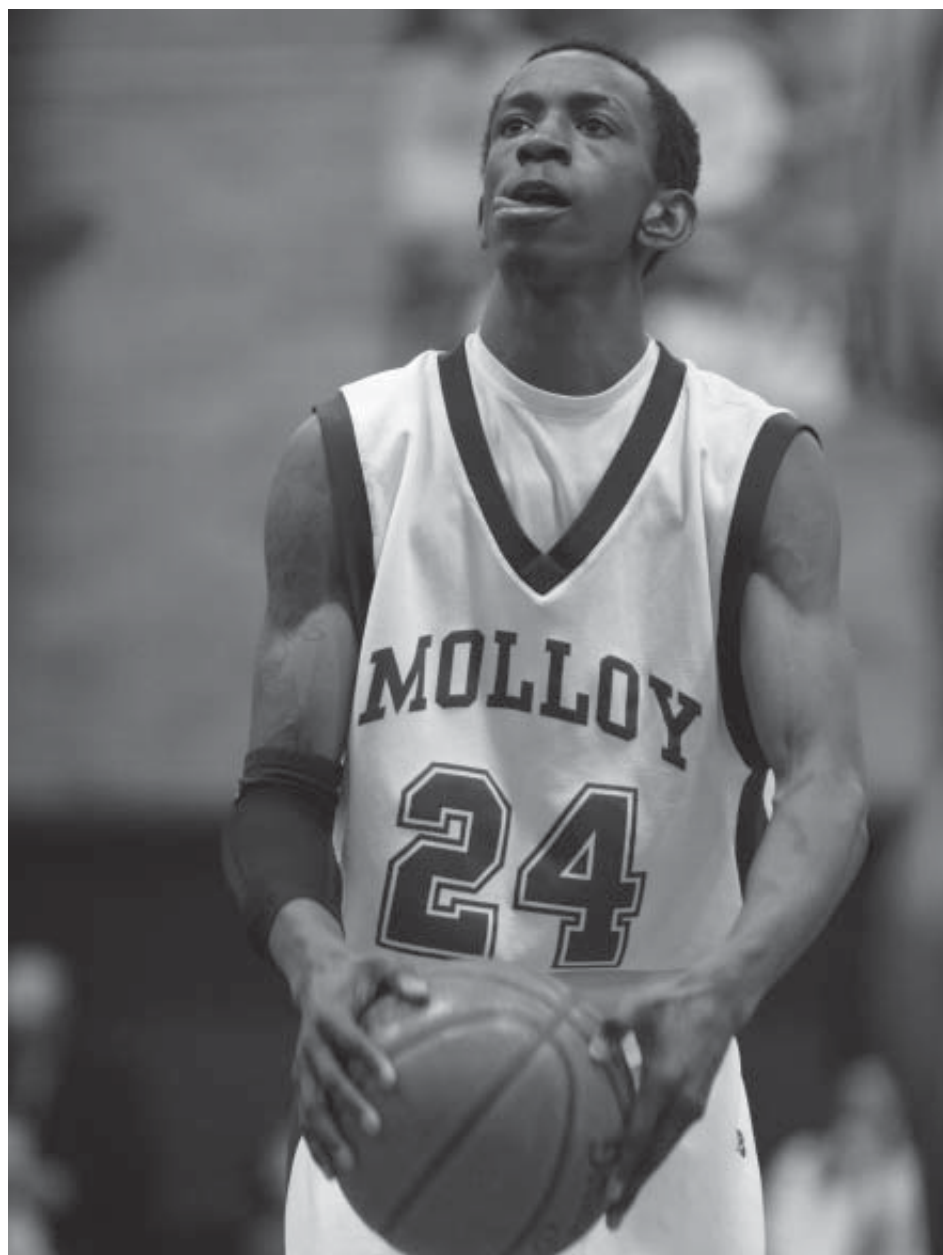

The Varsity Golf A team won its 12th consecutive CHSAA Brooklyn-Queens championship.

The Varsity Bowling team won its ninth CHSAA City championship.

The Varsity Girls Soccer team won the CHSAA B Division championship.

The Varsity Boys Soccer team won the CHSAA City championship.

Teachers say goodbye

Guidance Counselor Mrs. Rachel Galla said, "Congratulations and good luck to the Class of 2009! Enjoy this next stage of life. You will be missed."

Band director Mr. Greg Leonardo had a message for his musicians.

"To all the band seniors: It's been a great four years. Good luck in college and keep making music!" Mr. Leonardo said.

Now that members of the Class of 2009 have graduated, Mr. Charlie Flood, Class of 1968 and Director of Alumni Relations and the Stanner Alumni Association, said:

"This may be your last day at Molloy, but it is your first day as a member of the Stanner Alumni Association. Welcome! You have just joined more than 20,000 Stanner alumni in one of the best networks available anywhere in the world today. You are always welcome in our office."

Brooklyn-Queens championship.

The Boys Varsity Tennis team won the CHSAA B Division championship.

The Girls Varsity Track and Field team won the CHSAA Outdoor Brooklyn-Queens championship.

The Boys Varsity Track and Field team won both the Indoor and Outdoor Brooklyn-Queens championships.

Molloy's Varsity teams each honored two athletes with a Most Valuable Player Award for its top performer and a Coach's Award for leadership, team spirit and performance.

Here are the seniors who won team awards:

Varsity Baseball: Coach's Award - Brian Ponce.

Boys Varsity B Basketball: MVP - Christopher Kabelac; Coach's Award - Patrick Fava.

Girls Varsity Basketball: MVP - Nicole Marciniak; Coach's Award - Shannon Lavelle.

Boys Varsity Basketball: MVP - Russell Smith; Coach's Award - Justin Travis.

Prom fashion hits and misses

By Raymond Ferreira '09

Fashion Critic

Molloy's Class of 2009 arrived at Beckwith Pointe in New Rochelle on the evening of Wednesday, May 20 with the goal of not only having a good time, but looking good doing it.

Most people succeeded, but, sadly, a few Stanners failed.

The best dressed girls were Dorota Sawicki and Lauren Kim because they took risks that paid off.

Sawicki wore a blue, one shoulder strap, floor-length dress.

The shoulder strap was decorated with rosettes that seemed very organic and added to the light beauty of the dress. It looked really expensive and very Valentino.

"That's what I was going for," said Sawicki of the famous fashion designer's style.

Trying to choose a dress that looks to be very expensive can be risky because it can end up looking cheap but Sawicki pulled it off with elegance and grace.

Kim, meanwhile, looked fierce in her short, strapless, sapphire blue dress that was very chic.

Her hair was done in her usual, impeccable bob and her makeup was simple.

It was the simplicity of her look and the fact that her dress did not touch the floor that made her stand out and gave her look a slight edginess when compared to the other outfits that night.

The guys pretty much all looked the same in their rented tuxes, with no one truly standing out, making it impossible for any one of them to earn the coveted title of "Best Dressed Man."

However, some boys did not realize that wearing just any type of formal attire will do.

Those wearing white or light blue tuxes took an unnecessary risk.

Not only is black much more chic and expensive looking, but white or light blue tuxedos that are not customed tailored can make the wearer look as if he found his outfit off a Goodwill rack.

The girls, however, turned out in a large variety of prom dresses and, thanks to obsessive posting on the Molloy Senior Prom Dresses '09 Facebook page, almost no one wore the same dress.

For those who made that horrible faux pas, I hope you did not worry too much about it and were able to take pictures with your identical twin and make a joke out of it. Always keep in mind that if someone wore the same dress as you did, your dress was probably not a bad choice.

Apart from twin dresses, there were some other fashion mishaps.

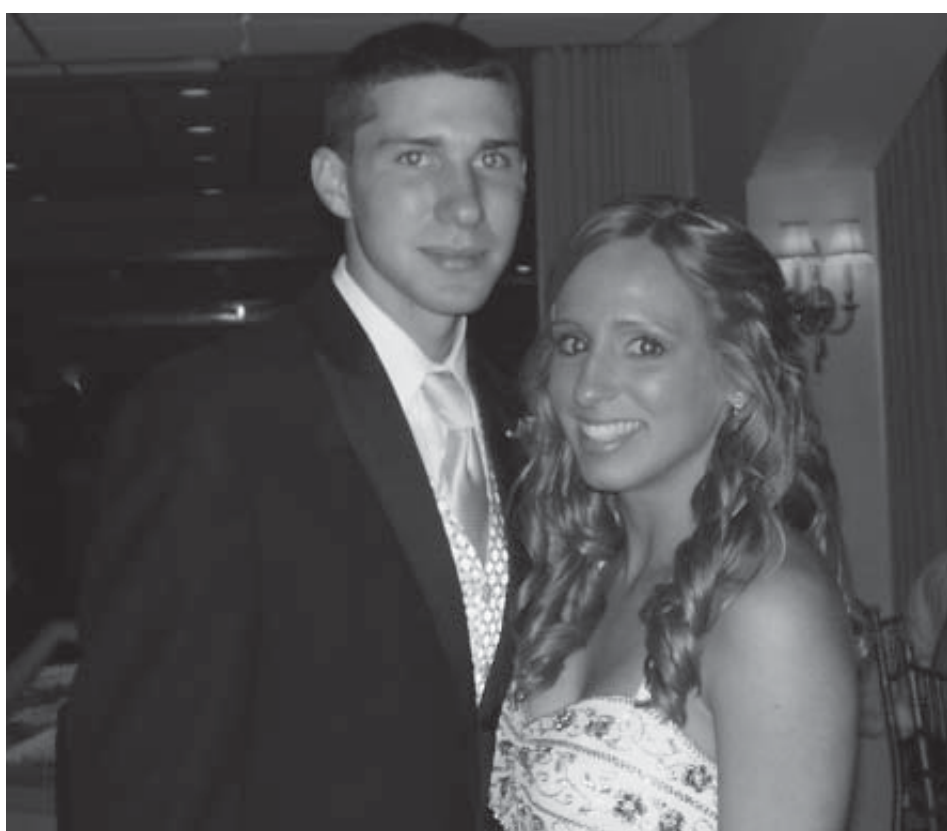

Some of the animal prints mixed with other patterns were a little too over the top and the color of some dresses just didn't suit the girls wearing them.

But all in all, most people did a good job dressing for their senior prom.

Few people looked really bad as looked impeccable and even the best of us can make a few mistakes here and there in our fashion choices.

But to Sawicki and Kim: You did a fabulous job!
