Graduation 2010

Hwu, Joseph show boys rule in 2010

By Camille Dwyer '10

For the first time since the first coed graduating class in 2004, two boys addressed their classmates as the valedictorian and salutatorian at the 53rd Commencement Exercises of Archbishop Molloy High School at Colden Auditorium at Queens College.

Christopher Hwu, who was the valedictorian, and Augustin Joseph, who was salutatorian, were only the third and fourth boys to earn these honors in seven years.

They were told by Assistant Principal Mr. Ed Jennings that they were the top two ranked students in the Class of 2010 three weeks after they returned to school from Easter vacation.

"It's a great honor for us and them," said Mr. Jennings. "They are at the top of Molloy, so we see great things in their future."

Hwu and Joseph were not only in the same 4E Homeroom, AP Calculus BC and AP Composition classes, they were involved in the same after-school activities: Integrated Science Association, Science Olympiad, Investment Club, and Math League.

Hwu and Joseph worked with Public Speaking teacher Ms. Mary Pat Gannon before the ceremony.

"The valedictorian's speech provides exhortation or persuades the audience to do something, and appeals to emotion and logic, while the salutatorian welcomes the audience to the graduation," said Ms. Gannon, who has worked with graduation speakers for at least 10 years.

Ms. Gannon said the hardest task in writing a graduation speech is avoiding the clichés, recapping the last four years in seven-minutes and delivering the message of the school motto, "Not for school, but for life."

Ms. Gannon enjoyed working with Hwu and Joseph.

"They are incredible, dedicated, and hardworking," she said.

Hwu and Joseph said they weren't nervous before their graduation speeches.

Joseph said that public speaking is one of his stronger suits and Hwu had already made a such a speech as the salutatorian of his grade school.

Their teachers and friends say they are extremely hard working individuals.

Ms. Jeanne Longerano said of Hwu, "It was a privilege and a great joy to have had the opportunity to play a small part in his education. His dedication to his studies and his willingness to accept challenges is what defines Chris."

Mr. Michael Nadeau said of Joseph, "He approached his studies in a manner that showed that he was not in it for the sole purpose of going to the next level of education; he was looking to grow in every aspect of his life. I am always impressed with Augustin's sense of responsibility and compassion."

One of Hwu's close friends, Shawn Adams, said, "He was one of the hardest working and academically motivated individuals I have ever met."

Ken Barretto said that Joseph deserved to become the Class of 2010 salutatorian and was glad to see him up there at the ceremony.

When asked how much time they spent on their school work, Hwu said, "I study a lot. I spend six hours a day and six hours over the weekend."

Joseph said, "I study, but I mostly listen to the teacher in class and I absorb and understand the material."

Hwu will attend Cornell University and major in math with a focus on a pre-med track.

Joseph will attend Virginia Commonwealth University for it eight-year medical school program which guarantees him a seat in the university's medical school after his four years of undergraduate education.

Hwu and Joseph aren't the only seniors who excelled academically.

The Class of 2010 sends 23 members to universities ranked among the top 50: Harvard, MIT, Columbia, Cornell, Virginia, Brandeis, NYU, Rochester, RPI, Penn State, Tulane.

Eight others seniors are going to top 50 liberal arts colleges: Amherst, Vassar, Smith, Barnard, Sarah Lawrence, Bucknell, and Gettysburg.

Davis, Skeivys picked as top athletes

Senior swimmer Maria Skeivys

Soccer player Gregory Davis was named Archbishop Molloy's Outstanding Male Senior Athlete and swimmer Maria Skeivys was named the Outstanding Female Senior Athlete at the Athletic Awards Ceremony on May 25 in the Jack Curran Gym.

Athletic Director Mr. Mike McCleary said choosing the best two athletes from the Class of 2010 was a difficult task because this year's finalists included a two-time league MVP, a two-time CHSAA City Champion, four All-League players, four players selected to All-Queens teams, two players on All-City teams, one a member of an All-American relay team and one honorable mention All-American.

Skeivys was a varsity swimmer for four years, the team captain as a senior, and a two-time league MVP.

She was undefeated for four years in the 100-yard breaststroke and the 200-yard individual medley in both the dual meet seasons and CHSAA championship meets.

Skeivys will attend Iona College on a swimming scholarship in the fall.

Davis, a forward, was a three-year varsity

Few seniors earn athletic scholarships

By Al Grogan '10

While many graduating seniors will try to continue their athletic careers by trying out for a college team, at least 14 Stanners will carry on their careers with athletic scholarships.

Kyra Aloizos (Binghamton University), Kelly Guerriero (College of Mount St. Vincent), Marielle Duryea (Adelphi University) and Ernest Rouse (Harvard University) have basketball scholarships.

8 win ACE scholarship

Eight seniors were ACE Mentor Program Scholarship Winners for 2010: Louis Lamia, Denisa Lleshi, Andrea Martinez, Alexia Sanchez, Olivia Sell, Andy Singh, and Jackeline Vargas and Gary Ye.

They won scholarships totaling $27,000.

Greg Davis (Providence College), Joe Ruocco (Marist College) and Glenn Whelan (Stony Brook University) earned soccer scholarships.

Matt Catera (University of Albany) and Sean Collins (Northeastern University) have track scholarships.

Baseball players Johnny Duggan (New York Institute of Technology) and Philip Loprete (C.W. Post), as well as swimmer Maria Skeivys (Iona College) and volleyball player Christina Perez (St. Francis College) also have athletic scholarships.

Molloy Athletic Director Mr. Mike McCleary is proud of these Stanners because it is difficult to get any type of athletic scholarship due to the fact that colleges devote more scholarship money to academics than athletics.

As a result, Mr. McCleary said, "We want the athletes to excel academically as well as athletically so the colleges can give a 'package' scholarship that rewards both an athlete's grades along with playing ability."

Ruocco, a goalkeeper, has a partial athletic scholarship worth $15,000.

"In my first year at Marist I will most likely be the backup goalkeeper but I am hopeful to be the starter for my sophomore until my senior year," Ruocco said.

Davis, a forward, has a scholarship that will pay about two-thirds of his tuition. "I hope to compete for a starting position right away in my freshman year," he said. "I want to get a lot of playing time in my first year."

Defender Whelan's scholarship will pay about half his tuition. "I am hoping to play right away freshman year and I am hoping to be a permanent starter for all four years," he said.

Faculty says final goodbye to the Class of 2010

The Molloy faculty offers its last goodbyes to the Class of 2010:

Bro. Thomas Schady: "Thanks for welcoming me to Molloy as your principal and giving me a wonderful experience of seeing how amazing and creatively unique today's young people are. Thanks for being bright students, talented musicians and athletes, creative writers and artists, enthusiastic leaders, dedicated ministers of service and good friends. Thanks for creating stirring successes on so many levels of our Molloy lives. You made it fun for us to be a school community thanks to your perspectives on life, tireless energy for our planet and desire to be of service. You, Class of 2010, made a significant difference in the life and history of Molloy. By being students here for four years, you became brothers and sisters for life. Seniors, in the Molloy family you remain for time and eternity in your family's love and in the hearts of Jesus and Mary. Please stay close to Molloy and help us in the days ahead to keep St. Marcellin Champagnat's mission ever alive — to make Jesus known and loved — for many future Stanners."

Mr. Chris Dougherty: "I will fondly recall the Viking Dinner in Copenhagen with Jorg, Anime Boston and Animazement, S.M.I.L.E groups, Palisades Park trips, Operation Cleansweeps, Rockaway Beach Cleanups, Shad Fest, Peer Group moments, and so much more. Don't forget to take to college: quarters for laundry, a flashlight, and your vitamin C! Be good to yourself and others. Recycle. Best of luck, thanks for the memories and enjoy making new ones!"

Mrs. Rachel Galla: "Congratulations and best wishes Class of 2010! Enjoy this next stage of life. You'll be missed."

Bro. James Norton: "The future is always unknown and so we have no control over it, even though we want to believe that we do. The only place that you can do anything is where you are now, in the present. So be fully present in your life at any given moment, live fully there, and sometimes you will encounter the Holy Unknown."

Bro. Francis Regis: "Congratulations to each of you as you depart from Molloy and move on to another new experience. Thank you for all the good you did for others. You will be missed but you left me with a lot of good memories! Know that I am with you in spirit and that you will be in my prayers."

Mr. Greg Leonardo: "Best wishes to the Class of 2010. My hope is that I don't meet any of you at the drive-through window at Taco Bell in five years."

Mrs. Terri Burke: "Best of luck to the Class of 2010, especially to my senior art students. Remember to have your art work say something about you and keep sketching!"

Ms. Mary Pat Gannon: "Congratulations to the Class of 2010. Please continue to be of service to your community. Be the force for change and for hope and for peace. Blessings on you all."

Mr. Jim Sheehan: "In 31 years of teaching, I have seldom worked with so many curious, responsible and enthusiastic seniors. By and large, those of you I have known over the past four years display integrity and compassion both in and out of the classroom. I wish you all the best."

Ms. Andrea Sottas: "To the Class of 2010, thanks so much for learning and growing with me. Have a wonderful journey!"

Mrs. Palmira Dionisi: "Tanti auguri a tutti gli student che si diplomano. Vi auguro un mondo di fortuna nel futuro. Le mie piu' sincere congratulazioni! In bocca al lupo!"

Mr. Frank Gambino: "Ecclesiastes 11:9-10 says, 'Rejoice, O young person, while you are young, and let your heart be glad in the days of your youth. Follow the ways of your heart, the vision of your eyes; yet understand that as regards all this God will bring you to judgment. Ward off grief from your heart and put away trouble from your presence, though the dawn of youth is fleeting.' Frank Sinatra sings: 'Fairy tales can come true, it can happen to you, if you're young at heart. For it's hard, you will find, to be narrow of mind, if you're young at heart.' Bob Dylan writes, 'And may you stay, forever young.'"

Mrs. Adele Solari: "It has been an enjoyable and productive year. I have thoroughly enjoyed all of my senior classes. I was very proud of all of you this year. You came far, worked hard right to the end and showed your true colors. I wish you all success in college and in your future endeavors. You will be missed."

Mr. Brian Klimas: "This year has been one of my favorites since I began working at Molloy due primarily to our amazing senior class. Your continual displays of generosity, love, community service, friendship and spirit have left an indelible mark on me and the Molloy community. Thank you for all that you have done and remember that this place is your home. You are all always welcome in both my classroom and my life. Best of luck in college and in all your future endeavors!"

Sister Elizabeth Bickar: "We've loved having you here at Molloy for the past four years, and we wish you God's blessing as you leave us. Remember to come back to visit because Molloy will always be a home for you."
